

SHANNAN

SHAZA

MANAGEMENT CONSULTANT

British Council

Education:

1999, BSc Economics, Damascus University; 2008, MBA, Durham Business School, University of Durham.

Professional Experience:

Originating from an Economics background, Ms Shannan is very familiar with the working in both the private and public sector, and has hands on working experience in Syria as well as the United Kingdom.

Ms Shannan is a Management Consultant specialising within Management and Implementation of Change in the public and charity sector. She has also spanned the areas of Business Transformation, Organisational Development and the Management of Staff Training and Development. Ms Shannan is also experienced in developing and delivering support mechanisms for the running and growth of micro and small enterprises.

Ms Shannan has assisted in setting up the Syrian Professional Women's Society in the UK and is currently the Society's Mentorship officer. She works with fresh graduates on their personal and career development to see how they can make change within their societies. Ms Shannan is the Co-Vice Chair of the Council for Arab British Understanding where part of her role is changing perceptions of the Arab World and specifically Syria in the UK.